

This year's theme is

A Decade to Celebrate

Research shows that student retention increases when students feel connected to their campus community. Connection can be in the form of campus involvement, peer support, or a meaningful encounter with a faculty or staff member.

Coaching is most effective when there is trust in the coach-student relationship; trust cannot be built until there is a connection.

Join us at our College Life Coaching Institute to learn more about how we have been making that connection with our students for the last 10 years!

Let's Celebrate!
